

Walking in the footsteps of Mary Gillham

A Dedicated Naturalist: The Dr Mary Gillham Archive Project is a Heritage Lottery Funded project to celebrate the life and works of ecologist Dr Mary Gillham.

Dr Mary Gillham (MBE) spent a huge amount of time exploring South Wales and recording all of the species she found, sometimes for personal interest, sometimes whilst educating extramural students and sometimes to record what species and habitats were present to provide evidence for protecting an area.

In this series of 'Walks with Mary Gillham' we provide you with details of surveys Mary (and her colleagues) undertook, the species she recorded, and encourage you to visit sites and record what you can see. We would love to get an up-to-date species list so we can compare the two – will you find as much as Mary? Has the species composition changed drastically? Can you add new species to the list?

Walk five: St Gwynno woodlands

Carpark: ST032958. Entrances: ST02689571 and ST03229587

Mary visited this large wooded area on many occasions with colleagues, her extramural class and during guided Cardiff Naturalists' Society walks. An excellent spot for a diverse array of fungi, multiple horsetail species as well as Parsley Fern (Cryptogramma crispa) on the pennant sandstone cliff near to St Gwynno's Church. In March (1971) and April (1990) Mary and her colleagues recorded 45 different species within the St Gwynno area, although a broader search through Mary's archive pulls up a further 377 species recorded in and around the woodland.

There are many species missing from Mary's list though, so there's plenty of scope for you to add to the tally!

The species listed below were recorded and identified by a number of people including Jean Jones, Barbara Murray, Roy Perry, Jenny Tann, John Zehetmayr and Mary Gillham.

Take a look at some of Mary's pictures from Llanwonno and the St Gwynno woods here:
